Structured products proposition wins Best Performance Benelux award again

Amsterdam/'s-Hertogenbosch, the Netherlands, 25 March 2024

Van Lanschot Kempen won three awards during the annual Structured Product Awards ceremony, part of the SRP Europe 2025 Conference in London. The team, led by Marcel Pronk and Tjerk Bosse, received the prestigious Best Performance Benelux award for its structured products proposition, just like in 2024. Additionally, the team renewed the award for Best Distributor NL and also won the award for Best Performance The Netherlands.

The SRP Structured Products Awards are the most prestigious awards in the industry and were established to evaluate the best-performing products and distributors of structured products in Europe. The results are determined based on the realised returns of matured products, sales volumes in structured products, and a vote among active producers, distributors, and service providers from various regions.

Marcel Pronk, Director Treasury Sales - Structured Products & FX at Van Lanschot Kempen: “Van Lanschot Kempen's structured products proposition has once again proven its added value over the past year in a well-diversified investment portfolio. Our clients have been able to benefit from the returns these products can offer in various market conditions. We are proud to once again be the winner of the Best Performance Benelux award and see this as a reward for the clear choices we make as Van Lanschot Kempen in offering these solutions to our clients.”
